THE RECEPTION by the LEADING

FIRS of the country of

Beadle's Monthly,

A MAGAZINE OF TO-DAY.

In a gratifying evidence of the magazine's success. "What the great papers must needs be good; what it condemns must needs be bad," is not to be treated as a truism in these times of intense political feeling; but it may be safely assumed that when journalists of all shades of political and religious belief approve and commend, it is evidence of excellence which the discriminating will endorse. The publishers beg leave here to repeat a few of the good things said of their Monthly.

WHAT IS SAID OF IT.

It is very well edited and handsomely printed; and probably will achieve a success."—[Albany Evening Journal.

"It is very well got up, and fairly deserves success."—[Philadelphia North American.]

If the magazine holds out as well as it has begun, it will be a great success. Interfering with none at present established, promises to open quite a new path for itself."—[John Neal, Portland Star.]

Judging from the merits of the first number, this new magazine is destined to achieve a success. It is filled with interesting and entertaining matter, illustrated by numerous and good wood cuts."—[Philadelphia Enquirer.]

Both by its character and costume the new-comer challenges the superiority of the household doors at which it knocks for admission."—[New-York Tribune.]

The magazine is most attractive looking, illustrated as fully and handsomely as any magazine I have seen. Harper, and displaying an array of original tales, poems, &c., is varied and taking character."—[Hartford Courant.]

One elegant 12mo vol. Illustrated. Price, $1.75.

DR. J. W. POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND!

"It was early in the Spring of 1853 that this compound was originated. A member of my family was afflicted with an irritation of the throat, attended with a disagreeable cough. I had for some months previous thought that a preparation having for its basis the bark of white pine might be so compounded as to be very useful in the case before me. And at last I made the trial, and the result was salutary. I then increased the amount of the medicine that I had been planning, and gave it in teaspoonful doses. The result was exceedingly gratifying. Within two days the irritation of the throat was removed, the cough subsided, and had raised no more. She took ten ounces of the bark, and gave it for more. J. B. Clark, my editor, The Worcester Spy, however, J. B. Clark, my editor, The Worcester Spy, however, did not think it was a good idea, and did not think about it, and did not look like it. Then look at it again. It would do no harm. Sin will not come to you saying, 'I am sick.' It would do no harm. Sin always seems 'good and pleasant and delectable' at the time of commission. Oh, get wisdom, get discretion, and let the world be your teacher. Solomon says, 'A wise man...'. It is a wise saying of Lord Bacon, 'Do nothing rashly. Think a little, that you may make an end the sooner.' Oh, learn to be thoughtful. Learn to consider what you are doing, and whether you are going. Make time for calm reflection. Consider, when you own heart, and be still. Remember her my caution. DO NOT BE LOST MERELY FOR WANT OF THOUGHT."
